

Endless Steppe Project

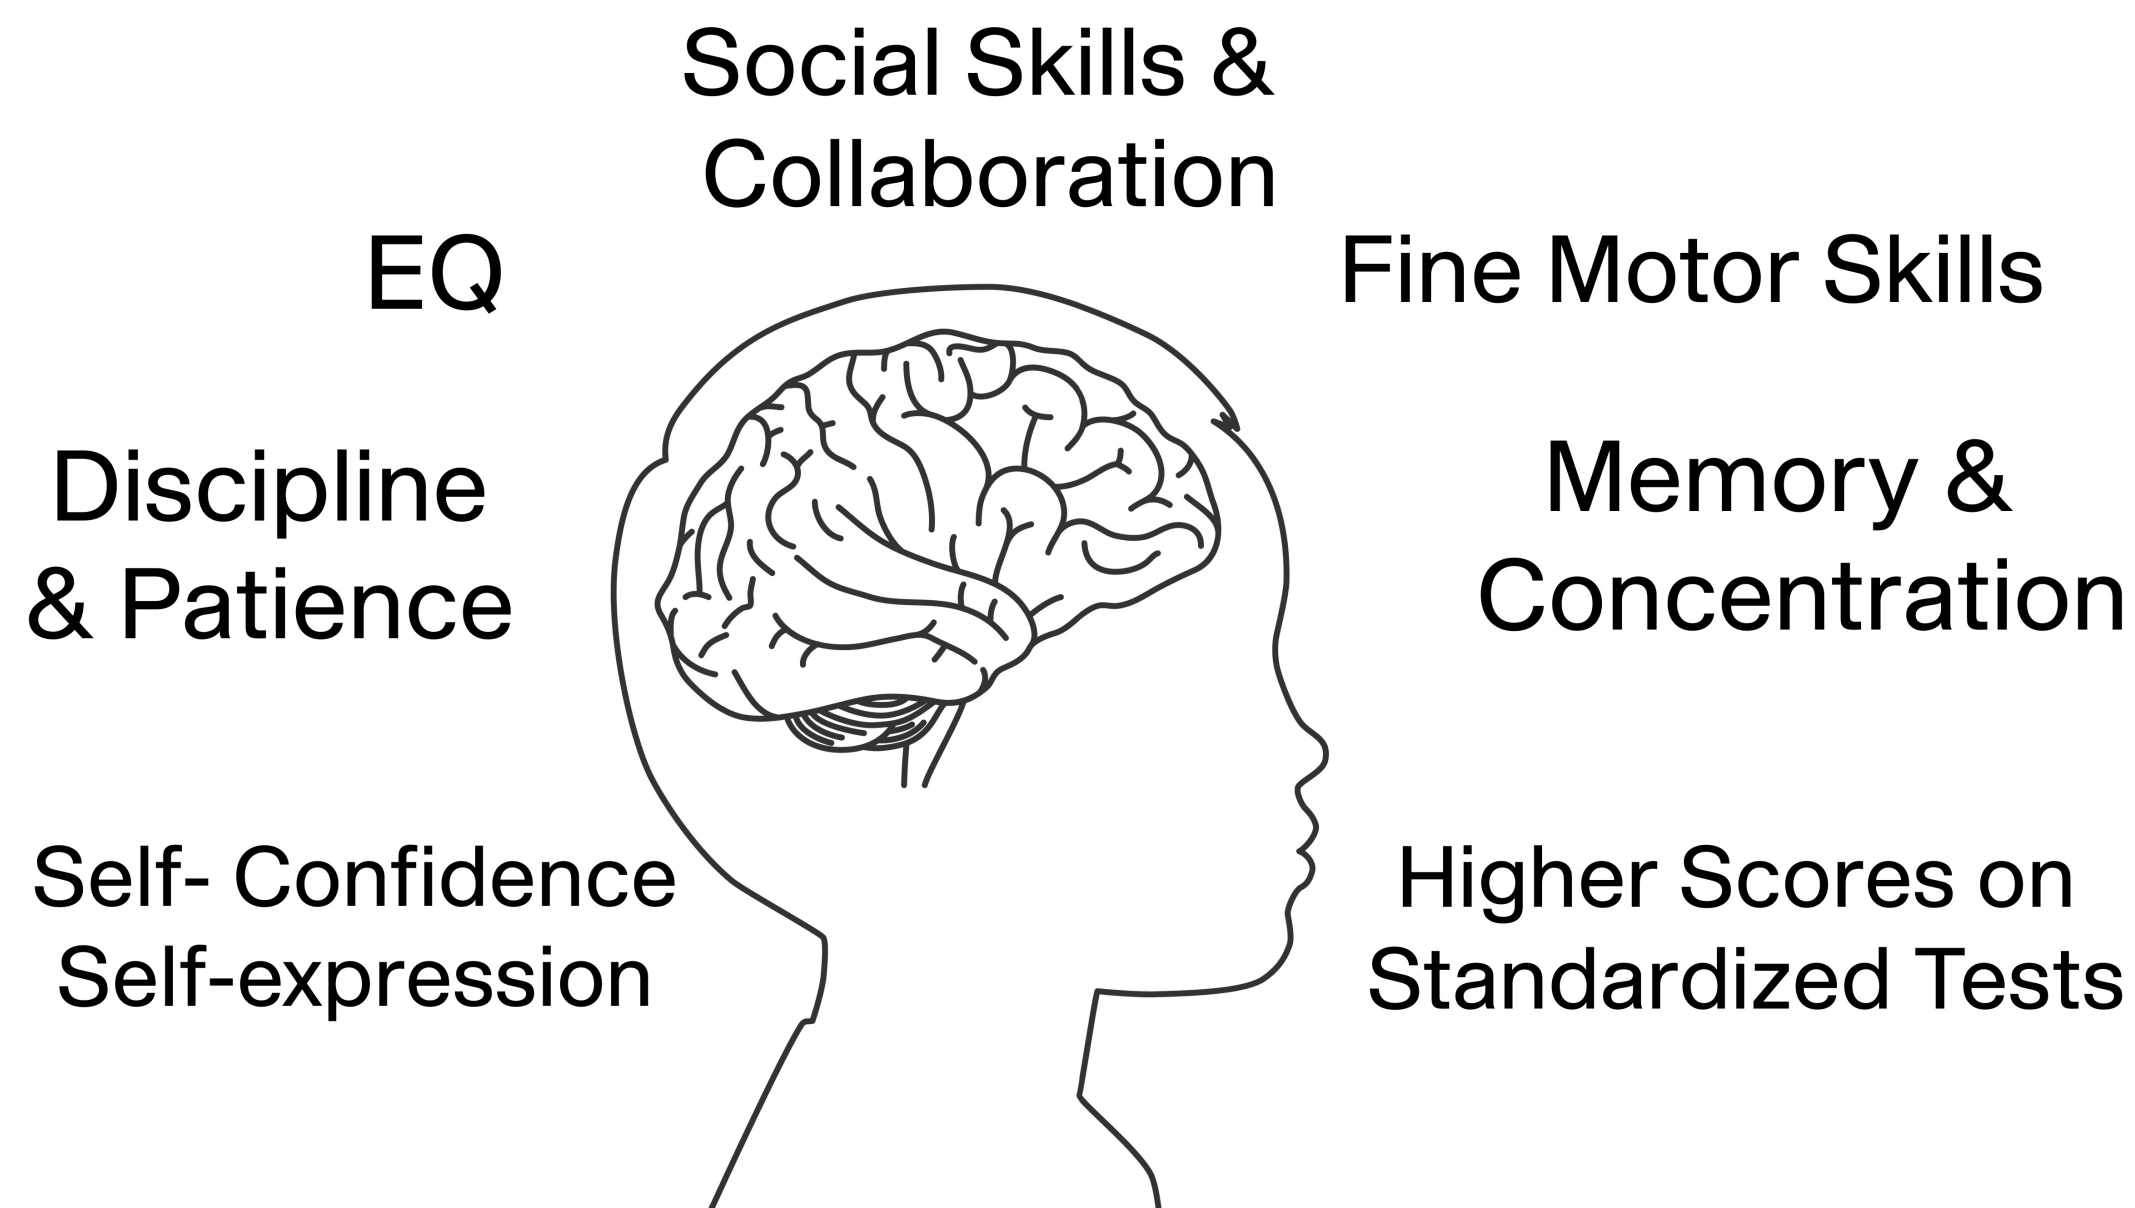

Why Music Education is Important in Schools

Music isn't "nice to have", it's an essential part of every child's education

Problem: Public Schools in Mongolia have a lack of access to musical instruments or high quality music education.

Our Solution: We empower music teachers in Public Schools by providing them teacher training, musical instruments, teaching materials, and an international network of mentors

Endless Steppe Team
Dr. Shuree Enkhbold, Pianist,
Group Piano Instructor, Co-Founder

Prof. Joe Lerangis, Conductor,
Band Instructor, Co-Founder

The project is at the seed stage and looking for collaborators such as music teachers, instrument vendors, and Yamaha lab technicians.

Endless Steppe Project

Music Education in Public Schools

Every child in Mongolia can play a musical instrument.

With the help LC4 control unit, our keyboard lab will connect up to 40 students simultaneously via headsets to create a musical ensemble

Year One: We will offer intensive training for 15 - 20 music teachers across Mongolia. The best teacher will be provided a comprehensive set of musical instruments in their music classroom. This location will also function as a hub for our annual teacher training summits.

Year Five: We envision having five schools each equipped with a full set of instruments, training close to 100 teachers all across Mongolia, thereby granting hundreds of students access to quality music education.

What we can provide to music teachers:

- Intensive Training from the Experts
- Select Set of Instruments
 - String or Wind Instruments
 - Piano Keyboard Lab + Control Unit for Ensemble
- Music Method Books
- Teacher Online Support
- International Teacher Network

How does student's experience change as a result:

- Social Learning Experience
- Access to Resources
 - Books/Supporting Materials
 - Instruments
- High Quality Music Education
- Fun Class Activities
- Ensemble Performances!